

Daoist Philosophical Foundations of Classical Chinese Medicine

Saturday April 13th 1pm – 5pm

Anahata Health Clinic, 119/120 Edward st. Brighton BN2 0JL

£ 30 (if paid in advance)

£ 35 (on the day)

Seminar with Andreas Kuehne, GQA

Director of Thammavong School for Classical Chinese Medicine, Germany Head of German Qigong Association

Ancient philosophy or Quantum Physics?

This seminar will introduce the philosophical and scientific theoretical basics of Classical Chinese Medicine in its original form, as it was practiced before TCM was developed.

For more information and booking visit:

www.thammavong.de (click Thammavong UK)

info@thammavong.de

Mobile : + 49 171 99 33 862

(please send SMS to call back)

Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM), well known outside of China today, is a combination of Classical Chinese Medicine (CCM) and western school medicine, created between 1940 -50 in the People's Republic of China due to various political and economic reasons.

This half day seminar will introduce the philosophical and scientific theoretical basics of Classical Chinese Medicine in its original form.

Topics include:

- the difference between TCM and Classical Chinese Medicine and why TCM was developed
- causal – analytical philosophy and science in relation to conditional philosophy and science
 - Wu Wei, Dao, Wu Xing (Five phases)
- classical Chinese texts before and after the changes in Chinese writing
 - derivation of function – cycles in principle
 - application of Wu Xing to diagnosis and treatment

This seminar is for TCM therapists, interested in developing treatment efficiency or other interested therapists, as well as for complete beginners.

It uncovers the very foundations of the Classical system - the key to understanding of many aspects of Chinese medicine and its techniques.

Andreas Kuehne, GQA

Director of Thammavong School for Classical Chinese Medicine, Germany since 1990

Head of German Qigong Association e.V.

Teacher of Classical Chinese Medicine, Qigong, Kung Fu, Feng Shui, Herbs, Tuina
Educated by Master Kaikham Thammavong, Laos; at the East West Academy, San Francisco, CA; at the Xi Yuan Clinic for Chinese Medicine, Beijing, China